Dear Andrew

Business retain price review 2016 (PR16): draft determinations

I am writing in response to Ofwat's draft determination of U UW's retail price control for business customers. We are pleased that the representations set out in our submission in July have been provisionally accepted by Ofwat and on the basis of the draft determination have no further representations to make to Ofwat on either the U UW draft determination or other draft determinations.

In the event that if Ofwat is considering changes to the U UW determination between draft and final - for example, as a result of responses to the published draft determinations - then we would ask that we be further consulted on such changes before Ofwat makes its final determination, such that we have the opportunity to review and respond to any points made which may impact the U UW determination on this matter.

I trust this is of assistance, but if you would wish to discuss further, then please do contact me at your convenience.

Yours sincerely
