Introduction from Rachel Fletcher, Chief Executive

Water is not a dry issue.

Water companies' work supports every aspect of modern life for everybody, every day. Safe and reliable water and wastewater services are essential for public health and wellbeing. As a society, we expect water companies to provide resilient, affordable services for everyone and to plan and invest effectively for the long term.

We need to look after our environment to ensure sustainable access to water and so we and future generations can enjoy the nature around us. We look to water companies to sustain and improve the health of our rivers, lakes, coastal waters and ecosystems as they abstract and treat water and discharge treated waste back into the environment.

Ofwat regulates the water and wastewater industry in England and Wales. Our role is to enable, incentivise and hold companies to account for providing the very best for customers, society and the environment now and in the future. We also oversee the markets that exist in the water sector to make sure they are working for customers.

We need to be at forefront of determining and implementing a regulatory system that will protect the interests of current and future customers, ensure water companies properly carry out their functions, and that efficient water companies can finance their business. We need to ensure there is long-term resilience, including through the sustainable management of natural resources. Both the UK and Welsh Governments ask us to encourage companies to seek solutions which deliver wider benefits to society and the environment as they carry out their business. We must ensure that water remains affordable and the needs of vulnerable customers are met.

To do this, Ofwat needs to be at the very top of its game. Thank you for your interest in joining Ofwat at what is a very exciting time for us. We look forward to receiving your application.

Rachel Fletcher
Ofwat Chief Executive

About Ofwat and the role

Ofwat (the Water Services Regulation Authority) is the economic regulator of the water and wastewater sector in England and Wales. Our role is to help it build trust and confidence with customers, the environment and wider society. Our strategic priorities include:

- Working with the sector to improve the customer experience in particular by improving resilience, delivering a step change in customer service, maintaining affordability and driving efficiency.
- Improving information and transparency in the sector to hold companies to account.
- Supporting the development and investability of markets, to enable the sector to deliver more for less.
- Securing stakeholder engagement and support for change.
- Ensuring Ofwat has the skills, experience, systems, processes and culture to deliver the strategy.

Our focus as a regulator is on regulating in a pro-market way which means establishing an effective framework that improves information (e.g. quality and visibility); improves buyers' and sellers' ability to transact (e.g. reducing 'transaction costs'); and/or by improving incentives on buyers and sellers to transact efficiently. In addition, we will look to make targeted interventions only, rather than taking a prescriptive, one-size-fits-all approach.

Corporate Communications

Corporate communications Ofwat is an essential tool for the delivery of our strategy, working across the business to encourage effective engagement and communication amongst our own people and with external audiences.
